

Risk Disclosure

Version 1 — effective 5 October 2026

This document supplements the Terms of Service (v5). Read it in full before making any deposit. By using the Service, you acknowledge that you have understood and accepted the risks described below.

1. Risk of capital loss

Neural Bet executes an automated arbitrage strategy on prediction markets. All trading activity involves a risk of partial or total loss of the funds committed. Past performance, whether published or not, is no indication of future performance. Only deposit amounts whose total loss would not affect your financial situation.

2. No guarantee; best-efforts obligation

No return is guaranteed. The operator is bound by a best-efforts obligation, not an obligation of result. An arbitrage may fail (partial fill of one leg, price slippage, settlement divergence between platforms), causing a loss on a trade that was meant to be hedged.

3. Technical risks

Outages, latency, interruption of platforms or infrastructure providers, software bugs, blockchain network congestion and variable gas fees may delay, prevent or degrade a trade, a deposit or a withdrawal.

4. Digital-asset and wallet risks

Stablecoins and other digital assets may lose their peg or value, be frozen by their issuer, or become temporarily non-transferable. A deposit sent on the wrong chain, to the wrong address or with the wrong asset may be unrecoverable. Blockchain transactions are irreversible.

5. Counterparty and platform risks

The prediction-market platforms used may change their rules, resolve a market in a disputed manner, suspend withdrawals or cease operations. These events are outside the operator's control.

6. Regulatory and tax risks

The legal framework for prediction markets and digital assets varies by country and changes rapidly. Access to the Service may be restricted or prohibited in your jurisdiction. You are solely responsible for complying with the laws applicable to you and for declaring and paying your taxes.

7. Account security

Access to the Service relies on your Telegram account. Compromise of that account or of your devices may lead to unauthorised operations. Enable Telegram two-step verification and never share your codes.

8. What Neural Bet is not

Neural Bet is not a credit institution, a payment service provider, an investment firm or a fund. Your funds are not covered by any deposit guarantee or investor compensation scheme.
